Dear Dwight,

Words cannot adequately express the pleasure it has been to partner with Newsome Construction throughout the design, construction and now warranty period of our project here at Alsbury Baptist Church.

Your willingness to listen to our thoughts and needs and your ability to combine them with your knowledge and expertise resulted in a facility more practical, functional and beautiful than we could have imagined.

Throughout the construction phase you and Paul were always prepared for any questions that we might have, and were quick with recommendations that always seemed to exceed our expectations. What a blessing that this same partnership and quick response has also carried through to the warranty period of our relationship.

As a church, it took us a number of years to move forward with this project. It's now easy to see that God was just in the process of placing the right people in our path to accomplish His will.

Thank you for being the men of integrity that God has created you to be and for being quick to share your faith.

I want to personally thank you for your wise counsel and look forward to working together in the future.

Sincerely and with great appreciation,

Cory L. Murray
